7 Executives Of Major Electric Firms Sentenced By U.S. Court

New Storm Slams SW, Heads East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow piled up Monday in storm sections of the Southwest and spread across areas in the Midwest.

A storm centered near the Gulf Coast dropped heavy snow on western and north central Texas after dumping a foot of snow on the Panhandle district during the weekend.

Scores of schools were closed and driving took on new dangers. Farther south in Texas many roads were closed by high water caused by six inches of rain in a 36-hour period.

Snow up to nine inches accumulated in western Oklahoma. The same storm, drifting slowly eastward, set off light snow in the Mississippi Valley. There was a possibility, the Chicago Weather Bureau said, that it might not reach the East Coast.

Fresh In St. Louis

Fresh snow fell in St. Louis while crews still were cleaning up after Thursday's 8-inch fall. Traffic was slowed there.

The Weather Bureau in St. Louis predicted two to four inches of new snow in sections of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

New York City bent to the task of removing its heaviest snow in 13 years, a 17.4 inch deluge that staggered the city late last week. Streets were free of heavy traffic—under orders that permitted only essential public service movement of vehicles.

Reports that heavy ice was causing bridge vibrations in the Chesapeake Bay area prompted the Navy and Coast Guard to maintain patrols and keep bridge stanchions free of flocs.

Temperatures rose in the snow-coated East. But the northern sections of Maine were chilled by sub-zero cold for the 20th consecutive day, equalling a record. It was three below zero in Houlton and two below in Caribou.

A bright sun and hordes of snow removal manpower and equipment made deep indentations in snow-bound Pennsylvania Monday but secondary roads in many places were still hazardous.

Heavy highway workers hoped to have most roads passable before a predicted new snowfall arrives Tuesday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said precipitation will average around one-quarter inch melted as occasional snow Tuesday and again near the end of the week in western Pennsylvania and one-fourth to one-half inch occurring in rain or snow about Thursday and again about Saturday in eastern Pennsylvania.

The aftermath of the weekend storm left the commonwealth's largest city, Philadelphia, like a wounded octopus. Most of the life was in center city where ink black traffic-whipped snow was being cleared. There was movement, too, on all the main arterial tentacles extending from center city.

Missile Gap Non-Existent, Kennedy Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration's military high command has tentatively concluded there is no missile gap favoring the Soviet Union at the present time.

This view, based on a swift but careful investigation, coincides with President Dwight D. Eisenhower's farewell comment that the much feared missile gap "shows every sign of being a fiction."

Even more important, the new Pentagon civilian chiefs, led by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, are convinced there is no "destruction gap" which will imperil U.S. security in the months ahead.

In other words, they believe this country's military punch at present is strong enough to wreak as much damage on the Soviet Union as the Soviets could inflict on the United States in a surprise attack.

These tentative conclusions have emerged from a top-to-bottom review of strategy, defense weapons and policy which Kennedy has ordered as a prelude to strengthening American defenses.

Perfect Crime But Trio Faces Murder

ROME (AP)—Three men, protesting innocence, went on trial Monday for murder in what police called a perfect crime—almost including alibi too good to be true.

If police have the case reconstructed correctly, spectators jamming the courtroom will hear the story of a slaying that would have furnished the plot for a best-seller murder mystery.

The Italian press has called it "The trial of the century."

Police said only painstaking sleuthing kept Giovanni Fenaroli, 52, Carlo Inzolia, 29, and Raoul Ghiani, 30, from getting away with murder.

The victim was Fenaroli's wife, Maria, 48. She was strangled in the Fenaroli Rome apartment the night of Sept. 10, 1958, shortly after her husband had taken out a $240,000 insurance policy on her life.

All that night Fenaroli, head of a small surveying company, was in Milan, 400 miles away, on a business trip, and he could prove it. He could prove that barely an hour before the murder he talked to his wife by long-distance phone from Milan.

Police charge that in that phone call Fenaroli told his wife a friend would be calling at the apartment to deliver a package. They said that friend was Ghiani, an electrician employed in a Milan factory. They said Mrs. Fenaroli let Ghiani in, and he strangled her and took some jewelry.

But Ghiani had an alibi almost as good as Fenaroli's. He could prove he worked all day Sept. 10 at the factory in Milan where he was employed. He punched a time clock when he finished, and punched the clock again when he reported to work the following morning.

Police say he bought plane tickets that would have gotten him here that night after he finished work. They said they found evidence he took a night train back to Milan after the time of the slaying that would have gotten him to work on time.

Witnesses found who claim they saw Ghiani on the stairs in the Fenaroli apartment house the night of the killing. Police said they found some of Mrs. Fenaroli's jewelry hidden in the Milan factory where Ghiani worked.

Police say Inzolia was a brother of Fenaroli's mistress in Milan and acted as go-between in the murder deal, introducing Fenaroli and Ghiani as a young man who could be relied on for the job.

Spectators queued at dawn to battle for places in the courtroom, jammed with 80 reporters, a score of attorneys and 140 witnesses. The trial is expected to last until April.

Lucille Ball Ill

NEW YORK (AP)—A virus sickened Lucille Ball and closed her musical show from Monday until Feb. 20. Miss Ball, star of Wildcat, is to spend two weeks at Miami, Fla., recuperating.

Will Support

One Democratic senator who had indicated some reluctance to support the bill declared he would support all of Gov. Lawrence's proposed $180 million revenue program—including the gas tax boost.

He is Sen. John Carl Miller, D-Beaver, who said, "I'm going with all of it."

But Sen. John J. Halluska, D-Cambria, was still a question mark. Over the weekend he indicated he would not support the program unless he had assurances there would be a substantial increase in highway construction in his county.

Democrats and Republicans are split 25-25 in the Senate.

Good Morning!

Prosperous times are those in which people who have money manage to get still more of it.

$936,500 Levied In Fines In Antitrust Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Seven executives of giant electric companies — described as "organization" men by the judge — were sentenced to 30-day jail terms Monday for federal antitrust violations.

The jail terms — a rarity in antitrust cases — were imposed along with fines totaling $827,500 against 21 companies and $109,000 against 36 individuals. A defense lawyer said individuals would pay their own fines.

Nineteen defendants were given 30-day suspended sentences and placed on five years' probation. Most held less important executive positions than those who were sent to jail.

In all, 29 corporations which make up virtually every large manufacturer of electrical equipment in the country and 45 of their executives were to appear before Judge J. Cullen Gandy in U.S. District Court. So many were involved that sentencing may not be completed before Wednesday. Companies include General Electric and Westinghouse, the nation's largest electrical firms.

Gandy, in a sentencing statement, called the indictments — for price fixing and bid rigging — "a shocking indictment of a vast segment of our economy."

Three From GE

Three GE executives — W. S. Ginn of Schenectady, N.Y., a vice president; Lewis J. Burger of Fort Wayne, Ind., former manager of the Switchgear Division; and George E. Burens of Philadelphia, a former vice president who preceded Burger as Switchgear chief — were ordered to jail for 30 days.

J. H. Chiles of Pittsburgh, a vice president, and C. I. Maunul of Philadelphia, sales manager for the Steam Division, were the Westinghouse officials sentenced to jail.

J. M. Cook, a vice president of Cutler-Hammer, Milwaukee, and E. R. Jung, vice president of Clark Controller Co., Cleveland, also received 30-day sentences.

Gandy said he would have sent F. F. Look, 68, president of Allen Bradley — a $130,000-a-year job, to jail also except for his age and that his wife was ill. Look was fined $7,500.

Ginn was fined $12,500 on two indictments; Maunul $2,500 on two indictments, and Chiles was fined $2,000. Burger $2,000. Burens $4,000. Cook $2,000 and Jung $2,000, all for one indictment each.

There were 72 pleas of guilty and 89 of no defense to 20 indictments for fixing prices and rigging bids at secret meetings.

The defendants, said Gandy, "flagrantly mocked the image of that economic system of free enterprise."

11 For Disposition

Gandy pronounced sentence on six indictments, leaving 14 for disposition Tuesday and Wednesday.

Westinghouse, the first sentenced, was fined $40,000 on the first count, involving the sale of power transformer equipment. GE was next: $40,000. Allis-Chalmers, Milwaukee, was fined $25,000; McGraw-Edison, Elgin, Ill., $20,000; Moloney Electric Co., St. Louis, $15,000, and Wagner Electric Co., St. Louis, $10,000.

The second indictment, involving switchgear equipment, brought these fines: Westinghouse $20,000, GE $30,000, Allis-Chalmers $10,000, Federal Pacific Electric Co., Newark, N. J., $10,000, and I-T-E Circuit Breaker Co., Philadelphia $10,000.

The third indictment involved turbine generators. GE was fined $30,000, Westinghouse $35,000 and Allis-Chalmers $25,000. This was the most important indictment according to the government and involved an annual business by the three firms of nearly a half billion dollars.

The fourth indictment involved industrial control equipment. Allen Bradley was fined $40,000, Clark Controller Co. $25,000, Cutler-Hammer $25,000, GE $35,000; Square D, Detroit, $35,000 and Westinghouse $40,000.

The fifth indictment involved power switching equipment. The company fines: Federal Pacific Electric Co. $15,000, GE $30,000, I-T-E $15,000; Joslyn Manufacturing and Supply Co., Chicago, $10,000, H. K. Porter Co., Inc., Pittsburgh, $25,000, Schwager-Wood Corp., Portland, Ore., $15,000, Southern States Equipment Corp., Hampton, Ga., $20,000 and Westinghouse $30,000.

The sixth indictment involved condensers. The company fines: Foster Wheeler Corp., New York, $20,000, Allis-Chalmers $10,000, Carrier Corp., Syracuse, N. Y., $7,500, Ingersoll-Rand Corp., $20,000, Worthington Corp., Harrison, N. J., $20,000, Westinghouse $25,000 and C. H. Wheeler Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, $20,000.

JFK Seeks Limit On Yanks Souvenir Buying Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy told Congress Monday that to help solve the gold problem American tourists should be discouraged from buying numerous and costly souvenirs abroad.

He asked Congress to place a $100 limit on the amount of foreign goods which returning travelers may bring into the country without paying customs duties. The present maximum is $500. Kennedy also proposed, in a 4,500-word special message, that American banks be permitted to pay foreign governments a higher rate of interest than Americans receive on savings accounts. He said this might encourage these governments to deposit their dollars here rather than use them to buy gold.

For the most part, other items in the President's program to deal with the worrisome gold drain represented an expansion of measures initiated by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Like Eisenhower

Like Eisenhower, Kennedy also promised to promote exports, encourage visits by foreign tourists, restrict military and foreign spending abroad, and maintain the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

He also said Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will report to him by April 1 on whether the tax laws should be changed to discourage certain kinds of private investment in Western Europe.

And he said he will submit legislation to block Americans from avoiding federal taxes through the use of foreign "tax havens." Officials said he referred to special tax breaks now available in such countries as Panama and Switzerland.

Kennedy asserted that the gold drain justifies concern but not panic or alarm. He said the United States has time in which to attack the problem calmly and deliberately.

3 Different Groups

Because of the wide range of subjects covered, the Senate took the unusual step of referring Kennedy's message to three different committees: Foreign Relations, Finance, and Banking.

The President's proposals generally found favor with Republicans as well as Democrats in Congress. Some members in both parties said they thought even further steps will be needed.

During the last six months, foreigners have bought a record $2 billion of U. S. gold, reducing the American supply to a 22-year low of $17.4 billion. They were able to do this because the U. S. balance of payments deficit gave them a supply of extra dollars.

Snow-Removal Costs Reported

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Highways Department said Monday it had spent $11,641,000 on snow removal as of last Jan. 19.

The department said that two major snow storms which occurred since that date will add to the expense.

The department also reported it has $5,178,000 committed but not yet paid out for various aspects of its winter services program.

For all of last winter, the department said it spent $21,718,000 for snow removal.

Rusk Doesn't See Early Cold War End

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, at his first news conference, advised Monday against expecting a speedy end to the cold war. He said serious days and hard work lie ahead.

Rusk also indicated that Kennedy administration strategists are considering whether to bring Red China into disarmament talks, including the soon to be resumed Geneva parity on ending nuclear weapons tests.

The secretary, a soft-spoken Georgian, replied to reporters questions in the same State Department auditorium President Kennedy uses for his news conferences.

President Shows Up

Kennedy showed up at Rusk's daily gathering with staff aides, not long before Rusk's meeting with newsmen. Rusk said it was the first time in U. S. history that a president attended a secretary of state's morning staff meeting at the department.

Rusk seemed nervous as newsmen fired questions at him about the world's trouble spots.

As has been customary with previous secretaries of state, Rusk barred direct quotation of his remarks until the department had okayed the transcript.

But, as it turned out, he said nothing which would have shaken a teacup in the most sensitive diplomatic gathering. And his transcript was cleared for quotation with only a minor amount of adjustment to make it read smoother.

Praises Press

Rusk praised the press, pledged frequent news conferences, said "our democracy works best when its leaders are candid"—but left himself ample leeway to keep silent when he believes that to be in the national interest.

He announced appointment of Arthur H. Dean, a one-time law partner of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, to head U. S. negotiators at the Geneva atomic test ban talks which resume March 21. Dean has had wide diplomatic experience, including dealing with the Reds at the Panmunjom talks leading to the 1953 Korean truce.

Charges False Premise

Yetter Warns Gas Tax Foes To 'Think Twice' On Urgings

REP. VAN D. YETTER (D-Monroe) warned motorists, truckers and other gasoline users to "think twice before they follow the urgings of petroleum interests to wire their Senators to vote against the two-cent state gasoline tax increase."

"The substance of the petroleum opposition is wrapped up in this very false premise," Yetter said.

"They claim the two-cent gasoline tax would not be needed to build interstate, primary and secondary roads and to care for road repairs and maintenance, if all of the present five-cent tax were used for road purposes," Yetter pointed out. He listed some vital services now made possible by taking from the five-cent current tax:

"Out of the five-cent tax currently collected citizens of this area and the remainder of Pennsylvania have State Police forces to protect lives and property; they have a driver education course for their children and many adults and a training program in colleges for driver and safety training teachers; they have an integrated and working highways safety program; the townships, boroughs and counties receive a share of these tax monies to building, maintain and finance road improvements in each and every municipality."

"Now," he said, "suppose what they suggest be done. It would mean another heavy tax to maintain State Police, driver education, safety programs and driver training teachers."

"It would be Monroe County's four boroughs, 16 townships and the county would have to levy a special real estate or some other tax to help pay for building, maintaining and financing roads built through road bond issues," Yetter warned.

Requests Vote For

"Instead of hurrying off a wire telling your Senator not to vote for this tax on the basis of the petroleum interests' argument, it would be better to wire him to vote for it to escape consequences of such a proposal and to get the money absolutely needed to finish the Penn-Caa highway, the Shortway, Route 940, the extension of the road from Saylorsburg, where construction from Wind Gap ended and the improvement of many other roads in every sector of the county, not to forget the vital Keystone Shortway from Stroudsburg to Sharon."

"No thinking citizen would be without State Police, driver and safety education and no thinking citizen wants another high local tax to provide funds lost from the current five-cent tax," he said. "Yet, if all of the five-cent tax were given to roads, as badly as it is all needed, that's about what could happen," Yetter pointed out.

Need for the two-cent tax has been proven beyond a doubt, if the Pocono region and remainder of the state are to have the major, primary and secondary roads it requires and has required for the past two years, the Monroe representative emphasized.

State Assures Yetter Aid On Way For Deer

(Special To Record)

HARRISBURG — Rep. Van D. Yetter (D-Monroe) last night announced that a State Game Commission official had assured him that the commonwealth will take temporary measures to meet the deer starvation problem.

Following a conference yesterday with M. J. Golden, executive director of the Game Commission, Yetter said a long-range weather report for February showed that temperatures will be below freezing and precipitation above normal. This means, he added, that the deer are in for "some bad weather."

Golden told the Marshalls Creek section that the State will buy corn and distribute it throughout the deer country.

This project will be under the supervision of John Doehling and John Spencer, game protectors in this county.

Golden informed Yetter that the State could purchase the feed from the Federal government at less than cost but the loading and shipping would prove costlier at this time.

He emphasized that in order for the State to purchase corn two bids must be submitted before action is taken.

Bought Near Scene

Golden told Yetter that the corn will be bought by the State as near as possible to the scene of the deer activity.

Yetter urged all sportsmen in the area to help distribute feed and give constructive advice during the project.

A Canadensis based Feed The Deer Association, a group designed to help deer, heartily endorses the project, an official said last night.

Knowing How To Listen A Must

By Leslie J. Nason, Ed. D., with Harry Karns

You no doubt knew, before we told you, how important it is to learn to read well. But now we're going to tell you something that probably will surprise you.

A student gets only about one-fourth of his facts and ideas from reading.

He gets the other three-fourths from listening.

Yet, the listening skills of most students are slight. In many cases non-existent. Today's children are told to "Pay attention!" but, alas, not how to pay attention.

No more than 10 per cent of your thinking space is needed to hear what teacher is saying. What happens with the remaining 90 per cent can make the difference between "A" and "F."

Either you consciously choose thoughts to fill this space, or it will fill up with noises, music, fear, hunger pangs, and other snips and scraps too weird to describe.

Here are some suggestions that will help you listen efficiently:

1. Fill your thinking space before-hand with a pattern of ideas related to the lecture.

2. Skim the day's assignment before class and listen carefully to the teacher's introductory remarks. A good teacher always explains briefly in the beginning what he is going to talk about.

3. Twenty minutes of preparation before attending class will save you an hour and will increase (Please Turn To Page Two)

Booklets Arrive

A NEW shipment of the 46-page booklet, "You Can Get Better Grades" arrived yesterday and may be purchased at The Daily Record office.

The booklet, written by Dr. Leslie J. Nason to accompany the series of articles currently appearing in The Record, is an integrated plan for learning and is recommended reading for student, parent and educator.

Each booklet sells for $1. The new supply was delayed in shipment because the storm which struck New York City disrupted printer schedules and deliveries.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Posch, Stroudsburg

MRS. JOHANNA POSCH, of 500 Thomas St., Stroudsburg, died Sunday at 11:15 p.m. in her home.

She was born in Pommarani, Germany, and came to the United States in 1925 where she made her home in New York City.

Mrs. Posch had resided in Stroudsburg since 1951.

She was the daughter of the your ability to understand the unfolding of new ideas and new laws. It will improve your note-taking ability and help you use the class period as a study period. It will cut the overall amount of work required to achieve mastery in any given course.

2. As the teacher talks, think of how the points fit into the general pattern and into what you already know about the subject.

Games Help Grades

3. If an idea comes up that doesn't seem to fit, ask a question about it.

Glenn tried to listen carefully in high school physics class. But he reported he found it difficult to follow the teacher and needed to spend too much time on the textbook after each class and before going ahead with his homework.

We suggested that he read ahead in the textbook, even though he might have some question about points discussed there. He did this and made a delightful discovery. He could follow the lecture. His questions, formed while reading the book in advance, were automatically answered during the class period—because he was on the lookout for the answers.

4. Sometimes it helps to play a little game. We have invented one called "Anticipation."

Here is an example that shows how you play it.

Herman was failing in all subjects. He was a bright boy, but classroom lectures never got through to him. We suggested he listen with the aim of guessing what the professor was going to say next.

"How in the world can I do that?"

"Try."

He tried. A week later he came in to report a grade of "A" on a philosophy test and to tell us:

"Now I understand the trick." He had learned to trick his mind into sponging up and organizing the lecture. The trick depends on a simple fact of psychology. Your mind can't keep telling you what the speaker is going to say next without first organizing what he has been saying.

5. Another game that produces good results is one we call "What else?"

The rule of play is to keep asking yourself, as you listen to the lecture:

"What else would I like to know about this subject?"

This game forces the mind to organize the facts and ideas of the lecture along with the things you learned previously into a pattern that will reveal a gap in the total picture.

6. Should the lecture fail to supply the answer to any question thus raised, the next step, of course, is to go find the information on your own from a book.

Art Of Note Taking

There is another learning art closely associated with listening—the art of note taking.

The most powerful driving force toward a clear understanding of a lecture is the act of condensing a speaker's remarks into a short statement in your own words. This is the key to taking notes. Notes should usually consist of nothing more than these statements in your own words.

The big mistake most students make in taking notes is that of trying to write down everything the speaker says. This is unnecessary, harmful, and for most persons impossible. Too many notes interfere with listening.

Your notes should represent only those materials not adequately covered in the textbook. They should be brief.

They should cover only the vital points.

After a class period in which you have taken notes, rewrite them. This is an excellent review of the material covered. Amplify your notes and make them a major part of your review for tests.

As you see, the art of listening consists of quite a bit more than merely keeping the wax cleaned out of the ears.

Let's glance quickly over what we have been saying:

1. Read the lesson in advance.

2. Fit the points of the lecture into the framework of knowledge you already possess.

3. Ask questions about questionable points.

4. Anticipate what teacher will say next.

HAYNES MOTORS, INC.

N. 9th at Scott St., Stroudsburg — HA 1-2560

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes) because Ford has replaced conventional grease fittings with a sealed-in lubrication system. Cleans its own oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes because Ford's Full-Flow oil filter gives you filtration through fibers... trapping more dirt than any other type of filter made.

Adjusts its own brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.

Guards its own muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminum to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects its own body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes care of its own finish—Just wash and clean Ford's new Diamond Lustre finish and it continues to glisten like new. It never needs waxing.

Operation 'Snow Lift' In S-Burg

STROUDSBURG Burgess Edward A. Doran has designated the following streets on which snow crews will be operating this week. He has urged citizens to use these streets to remove vehicles all along the routes in order to prevent any delays in their operations.

Here is the schedule for Wednesday:

The snow removal crews will operate on Scott St. from Fifth to Eighth Sts. and on Walther St. from Fulmer to Thomas Sts.

On Thursday, the men and equipment will clear Thomas St. from Fifth to Eighth Sts. and Seventh St., starting at Sarah and moving to Scott St.

Start at 8 A.M.
All operations will begin at 8 a.m.

Burgess Doran, Borough Manager Harold Snyder and Police Chief John B. Trehwary met yesterday to map the final phases of the snow removal program.

There will be no parking on the streets designated for snow removal work.

Burgess Doran reported that the program will go into effect tomorrow instead of today in order that the schedule be publicized well in advance for those affected.

Operations today will be scattered throughout the borough. Yesterday the crews cleared Bryant St. from Broad to LaBar's Nursery. The street had one-way traffic prior to the completion of the operation.

The borough officials said public cooperation in this endeavor will be of great benefit. It will make for a smoother functioning of the snow removal operations in addition to making the routes safer for motorists.

Price Named Feed Deer Chairman

RAYMOND Price Jr., Snyder'sville, was elected temporary chairman of the Executive Board of Feed the Deer and Wildlife at its meeting yesterday in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg.

The board discussed future plans and voted to have additional members on the executive board. The purpose for the additional members is to have a better representation on the governing body in the Pocono Mountains area.

Meet Wednesday
The next meeting of the board will be Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Penn-Stroud.

It was learned last night that at this session receipts and expenses will be made public.

Eastburgers Leave Ship Before Crash

TWO East Stroudsburg couples had disembarked from the passenger liner Nassau about eight hours before it started another journey to the Caribbean and collided with the Norwegian freighter Brott in a snowstorm Friday night.

Both ships were outboard from New York Harbor. No injuries were reported on the ships.

The four from the area were Mr. and Mrs. David Bernbaum and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heller.

Completed Cruise
The group had completed a 7-day cruise to Nassau and left the ship Friday at about 10 a.m. The cruiser left the harbor at about 7 p.m. that evening and shortly thereafter was involved in the collision.

The accident happened about 10 miles from the Ambrose Light Ship, just outside the entrance to New York harbor.

A spokesman for the Nassau's owner, the Innes Line, said the vessel suffered some damage to its bow but the ship was not taking on water.

No Injuries In Accidents In S-Burg

NO ONE was hurt in two accidents investigated by Stroudsburg police last night.

At 7:10 p.m., cars driven by Lloyd Smith, 42, East Stroudsburg, Star Rt. and Mary Marcavice, 21, of 111 Adams Court, East Stroudsburg, collided on Main St. in front of the American House.

Police said both vehicles were traveling east on Main St. and Smith slowed preparatory to discharging passengers. His vehicle was struck in the rear by the Marcavice car. Total damage was estimated at $350.

At 9 p.m., cars owned by George W. Van Gordon, 32, of 93 N. Third St., Stroudsburg, and Douglas Townsend, 20, of 174 Grand St., East Stroudsburg, collided in front of the YMCA.

Police said Van Gordon, driving a Delaware Valley Transportation Co. Taxicab, was backing from the Y driveway when the accident occurred.

OPERATION SNOW LIFT—Borough of Stroudsburg began removing the snow on Bryant Street yesterday. Used in the operation was the bulldozer, operated by Stanley Stalmer, and a bucket lift and several trucks. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

YMCA Drive Goes Past $6,500 Mark

MEMBERSHIPS totaling $2,247.50 were received last night at the second report meeting of the Monroe County YMCA's annual membership campaign.

That boosted the over-all total to $6,567, just $433 short of last night's $7,000 goal. The campaign, which ends next Monday night, seeks to raise $9,000.

Division totals were announced as follows by leaders: Stuart Pipher, $1,962.50; Claude Arnold, $1,757; W. C. G. Peterson, $1,434.50; Frank Ashley, $1,413.

Express Confidence
Jack Haswell, campaign chairman, expressed confidence the drive would go over the top next Monday night and urged each worker to be an integral part of the success. It is a team effort for the welfare of every child in the county, he said.

The margin of success, Haswell added, depends upon how much individual effort each worker contributes to the team in the home stretch.

PM Sportsmen To Legally Organize

POCONO Mountain Sportsmen Association will meet Thursday at 8 in a move to legally organize it feed for deer program. The group will convene at Little Brown Jug Restaurant, Mount Pocono.

Adoption of by-laws, setting up a charter to legalize the Association, and expansion of its duties will highlight the session.

President William Powlett reported yesterday that his group has been kept busy over the weekend in its duties. Thirty men were distributing feed on Monday in the area.

But the organization reported a need for funds. The constant distribution of foodstuff for the deer has taken a large toll on the group's funds.

"We have plenty of manpower," Powlett reported, "but are in need of additional funds if we are to continue in the future as we have in the past."

A need also for snow shoes was requested. Twenty-five pairs were used in yesterday's operations. Powlett said it is useless to track in the deep snows without snow shoes.

"We are well organized now, even to the point of knowing how much feed to allot to each deer," Powlett continued. He said it figures out to one-half bale of hay for three deer for a three-day period.

Prevents Overloading
"This system prevents overloading and sometimes wasting of the foodstuff," the president said. Despite all the good being done for the deer, the organization has uncovered an ugly incident.

Kidnaped Children

More than 4,000 children were kidnaped in the United States in 1960. This is the highest figure in history.

Most of these, we are told, never made headlines. They were not perpetrated for ransom. Instead, they were the doing of frustrated and embittered mothers and fathers who flouted court orders and took the law into their own hands by running off with their own children after having been denied legal custody.

The real tragedy of these "technical kidnappings" is the havoc wreaked upon the innocent children who become pawns in a war between parents.

Shocking as is the discovery that so many kidnappings occur, the warning of sociologists is even more disturbing. They say more children rather than fewer will be the victims of marital conflicts in the future.

Delaware River Compact

At a time when concern is being voiced in many parts of the country about the adequacy of the nation's future water supply, it is encouraging that the States of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware and the Federal Government have tentatively agreed upon a compact that should assure a fair distribution of the water resources of the Delaware River.

A commission is to be set up consisting of the Governors of the four states and a Federal representative to be appointed by President Kennedy to develop and administer the water supply. For residents of New York City the settlement is particularly important since it means that there is unlikely to be any future effort to win a change in a 1954 United States Supreme Court decree permitting the city to draw up to 800,000,000 gallons of water a day from Delaware sources.

Thus the city is protected in its investment of $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 in the Neversink and Pepacton Reservoirs, already in use, and the Cannonsville Reservoir, under construction. But even with an apparent sufficiency of water in sight for this region for many decades to come, we should not waste it.

Most of us can remember the water shortage in 1949 and 1950. We can recall the critical need for conservation. Whatever the supply outlook, a water shortage might come again if we are profligate with what we have.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

It Cannot Be Ignored

"Economic News", published by American Institute for Economic Research, starts one of its very interesting bulletins thus:

"Fifteen years ago West Germany stood virtually destitute, stripped of its industrial power, apparently overcrowded, ill-nourished, ill-clothed, and ill-housed. Bomb damage estimated in excess of $50,000,000,000, more than 10 times the damage in England, had destroyed much of Germany's industrial plant. Who would have believed that within 13 years the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States and the Under Secretary of State would come to Germany, hat in hand, to beg a little financial help in various ways?"

It is to be remembered that the occupation authorities, Americans included, attempted at the end of World War II to impose on Germany, as it did on Japan, a Keynesian, Fabian Socialist economy.

The West Germans escaped from that. They established sound money, backed by gold and as far as they could, they restored the free market. West Germany's economy is among the soundest in this disordered world.

President Kennedy, in every statement he has thus far made, has spoken of the receding economy of the United States. Some have criticized him for scaring the wits out of the American people; others contend that he is giving us a bad name throughout the world.

But, the fact is that our economy is doing quite badly and while it is difficult to get absolute figures, unemployment looks larger than the 5,000,000 figure which the President gives. For in many plants there has been a reduction from five days to four days and even less and although such a worker is regarded as employed, he must also be regarded as unemployed or, at least, inadequately employed.

Undoubtedly the principal error, from the standpoint of our economy, has been the five-year program, beginning with the Marshall Plan and continuing to this day and beyond in various forms of aid. This has involved export of dollars, allocation of gold from our coffers to that of other nations, and the loss of revenue to American industrialists and workers.

It is impossible to abolish, at a moment's notice, every kind of foreign aid, without antagonizing many more nations which have accustomed themselves to drawing upon us for their needs.

Much that has actually happened was duly described in advance of the occurrence by those who have regarded the entire foreign aid program as misconceived and surely, as very badly handled.

Nevertheless, we have gone through with it and now face the position of the man who outlined his own generosity and has to ask for support from those whom he aided. Their reply quite naturally is that they have problems of their own.

These two items, the dollar and unemployment, are not post-ponable and the solutions to them must produce results. Feeding unemployed workers is not giving them jobs. It is not a solution; it is a palliative.

Giving out food stamps only puts Americans on the dole. A grandiose program of public works will not provide permanent jobs. This country has had a long and trying experience with welfare state remedies, which reduced the dignity of the American individual and tied him to government. We need a better device than a dole; we need jobs.

This is what President Kennedy faces. His program of palliatives will help, but they will not solve the problem which is to produce goods at prices which will make them competitive in the markets of the world, including the American home market.

It is true that the current depression did not start in 1961. The statisticians put it at 1958. It can be traced back in some phases, earlier than 1958. The accumulation of problems relating to unemployment, inflation, a weak dollar, an inadequate gold reserve are now dumped in President Kennedy's lap.

It does not matter that it is not his fault; what does matter is that he and his Administration must meet and solve these problems and that he has no time to waste. Men will not be patient about lack of jobs and inadequate household supplies.

It is a tough prospect, but if the best minds are put to work on it, we shall have results. Woodrow Wilson picked a team that included Bernard Baruch, Herbert Hoover, Vance McCormick and Colonel House and others of their kind to assist him to solve difficult problems. Their like is not yet seen in the Washington of 1961.

The Pennsylvania Story

Money For Roads

By Mason Denison
Harrisburg — An aura of exasperation has settled over the ramparts of Capitol Hill.

Largely it stems from the opposition bitterly evidenced among Republican anti-administration lawmakers fighting the proposed tax increase in the gasoline tax.

The controversial issue is scheduled to come up in the Senate this week — tonight or tomorrow if the administration timetable holds firm — for show-down consideration.

It has already passed the administration-dominated House of Representatives — a rush — but even that occurred weeks before last with the definite and appropriate stigma of "steamrolling" attached to the move.

The basic complaint on this score — and it is generally conceded the move now is classified as a "massive tactical error", as reported by this column last week — revolves around the administration's adamant determination to bundle through the tax legislation in 1-2-3 fashion without time for detailed consideration.

When the vote came in the House on the tax item the count was solidly on the negative side insofar as House Republicans were concerned not so much in opposition at the time to the tax increase, but in anger at the manner in which Democratic administration forces rode rough shod over pleas for some delay and more thorough consideration of the legislation.

Now the tax is in the Senate where the story — insofar as control is concerned — is decidedly different and bombastic adamancy not quite so evident. In the Senate administration forces do not hold outright control. The 25-25 split in membership takes care of that.

The administration's tax program last week was not bundled through in a hash and flash — but was laid over this week for "further consideration." The ground is mellow in the Senate — but anti-administration aid from the GOP side is needed to provide the 25 votes for passage of the legislation.

The gas tax increase legislation is prime at the moment. Here is a $74,000,000 revenue increase to be paid only by the users themselves — not by the general public at large.

Yet opposition to the measure has flared administration leaders. There are very few indeed who dispute the fact that Pennsylvania's highway system simply is not up to snuff. You don't handle more than 41,000 miles of Pennsylvania's state highway system with peanuts. It's impossible.

You can only build the roads that money provides — and look at the records on file in the State Department of Highways: there isn't a county in the state that isn't screaming for highway improvements, new highways, new bridges; you name it!

It doesn't require any tremendous set of brains to realize that these things cannot be gained without the expenditure of additional money. Or, as Secretary of Highways Park H. Martin commented to this column some time in exasperation the other day:

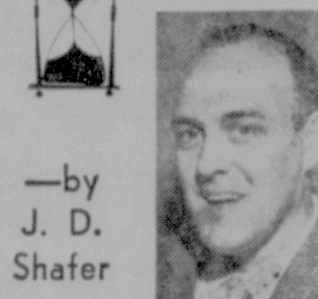

"If these people want their highway projects — we've got to have the money. It's as simple as that."

To complain about it is quite another. That "something" is on the legislative griddle right now — this week whether Pennsylvania's highway program is to continue at its present pace, over the protests of those who want newer, better and modern roads, will be answered in the Senate when the gas tax issue comes up for final consideration.

The tally on exactly how the 50 senators vote on the issue will be worth keeping for future reference by the folks at home who put senators in — and out — of office.

The issue is so simple it is almost classic. Small wonder perhaps that an aura of exasperation has settled over Capitol Hill!

German airmen dropped a large load of bombs on London again. This was the first big raid in more than two weeks. In the load dropped were a large number of incendiary bombs.

A 14-year-old boy from Saylorsburg RD was shaken up in an accident involving a car and the school bus he was riding. He was the only child on the bus at the time of the accident. There was no damage to either the school bus or the car.

An employee of the Peoples' Coal Company fell while checking the high coal storage bins. He was rushed to the Monaca County General Hospital and was reported to have a crushed vertebra.

How many remember when you could purchase a new car for $85? I wonder if those days will ever return.

Reactor Controversy

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Attorney General Robert Kennedy has a $100 million nuclear bear by the tail that is splitting his top assistants down the middle over whether he should hang on or let go.

Crucial of this far-reaching backstage dilemma is whether to go through with an appeal to the Supreme Court of a decision by a U.S. circuit court revoking the permit granted by the Atomic Energy Commission for the construction of the $100 million Lagoon Beach atomic power plant near Detroit.

Both the huge project and the thorny appeal issue are legacies of the Eisenhower Administration. The permit for the plant was issued by the AEC, under hotly

Circuit Judge Henry Edgerton, in the majority opinion, voided the AEC license "Because we think the safety findings insufficient."

The giant plant is scheduled for completion in July. The government, through the Atomic Commission, has $20 million invested in this project. The other $80 million was put up by the Power Reactor Development Company, comprising a number of private firms of which Detroit Edison is the largest.

If the circuit court verdict is not appealed, the $100 million nuclear power plant will become a white elephant pending further determination of the crucial safety factor.

Both the huge project and the thorny appeal issue are legacies of the Eisenhower Administration.

The permit for the plant was issued by the AEC, under hotly controversial former Chairman Lewis Strauss, despite vigorous scientific and congressional opposition. The commission's own Reactor Safety Advisory Committee and the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee strongly challenged the project on safety grounds.

It was also strenuously fought by labor unions, headed by the United Auto Workers and the Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

Former Attorney General William Rogers personally made the decision last October to appeal the circuit court's adverse ruling. He did that chiefly at the insistence of the AEC, and over the dissent of some of his assistants.

Attorney General Kennedy knew nothing about this matter until last week.

Then he was abruptly told about it by Solicitor General Archibald Cox when he discovered the appeal was due to be argued before the Supreme Court. With Kennedy's approval, Cox obtained a postponement from the tribunal pending determination by the new administration of what it wants to do about this far-reaching issue.

Cox explained to the Supreme Court, "We do not want to be bound by the action of our predecessors. We may or may not decide to appeal, but we want to do the deciding."

What's At Stake — Involved in this thorny legal problem are wide-ranging political and scientific ramifications — as well as the fate of the $100 million atomic power plant.

These factors are the basis of the sharp inner split over the appeal.

Those favoring pressing it are citing the Atomic Commission's support. This agency is now temporarily headed by Commissioner John Graham, an Eisenhower appointee. President Kennedy's new chairman has not yet taken office and has indicated no view on this issue.

The pro-appeal group is also stressing the $80 million invested by Detroit Edison and other companies. It is argued that private industry throughout the country has a big stake in this project.

The opposition is urging the appeal be withdrawn on two grounds:

(1) That there is a "fatal error" in the brief filed by former Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin asking the Supreme Court to overrule the circuit court's abrogation of the AEC's permit to build the plant. Rankin contended the lower court's stand was unjustified because "there has been a perfect record of safety of the regularly operating reactors."

It is being pointed out by this claim was shattered by the recent explosion at the National Reactor Testing Station, Arco, Idaho, in which three technicians were killed.

(2) Representative Chet Hollifield (D., Calif.), new Chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee, and Senator Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.), Vice Chairman, are vigorously opposed to the appeal, and have induced the Atomic Commission to undertake a thorough safety survey of all atomic reactors in the country. They hold nothing should be done about the Lagoon Beach power plant until this study is completed.

Also before Attorney General Kennedy is a report of 40 atomic reactor accidents that have occurred since 1948. This presentation was submitted by Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, who have strongly opposed the Lagoon Beach project. It states:

"This study, plus the explosion at the National Reactor Testing Station at Arco, Idaho, confirms the validity of our opposition to the construction of the untested fast breeder reactor near Detroit. This Detroit plant, built in spite of widespread scientific challenge, is 300 times larger than an experimental model which exploded at the National Reactor Testing Station in November 1955.

It is clear from the Arco, Idaho, reactor accident that thousands of people would have been over-exposed to radiation if the stationary low-power reactor had been built in a populated area, just as the fast breeder reactor is being built in the Detroit metropolitan area."

Inside You And Yours

Arteriosclerosis

By Burton H. Fern, M. D.

Can you tell whether or not you have hardening of the arteries (arteriosclerosis) — that stony-hard calcium which clings to the lining, narrowing arteries like rust in pipes?

Anyone can tell your arterial fortune, once blood slows to a trickle. Inside each shoe a five-toed ice cube may burn, tingle or turn numb.

Walking knots your calf muscles into cramp-like pain, crying for blood needed for extra activity. You rest a minute and the pain evaporates. Clogged arteries nourishing the heart muscle can move this pain up to your chest. This pain (angina) also disappears after a few minutes' rest.

Serious Effects — A slow trickle to the brain may paralyze taste buds, blind you to odors, flash spots before your eyes or darken all you see. You keep forgetting things. Is this '61 or '21? Illinois or New York?

Old memories fade last. When all seems forgotten, you can still curse like a sailor and recognize quarters, dimes and half-dollars!

Without definite arterial trouble, you have to figure the odds like a horse player with a racing form.

Does hardening of the arteries run in the family? How about internal disorders that flood the blood stream with milky fats—diabetes, slow thyroids . . . ?

Are you overweight? Underactive? Slim conductors who daily squeeze through crowds on London autobuses seem more immune to hardening of the arteries than heavy, sitting bus drivers.

High Blood Pressure — Perhaps traffic congestion tenses the driver and raises his blood pressure. Both high tension and high blood pressure harden and narrow arteries just like a constant kick, fatty menu.

Why figure the long shots? A visit to your doctor may uncover arterial trouble or some other ailment you don't suspect. With his magic lantern he can tell your arterial fortune. He merely peers into your eye balls with a brightly-lit ophthalmoscope and sees arteries and veins as clear as day!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Reports From Congress

Approval Due

By Congressional Quarterly

Washington, After five years of legislative roadblocks and presidential vetoes, area redevelopment legislation to provide federal aid for areas of high and persistent unemployment seems a sure bet for approval in 1961.

President Kennedy and Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), chief sponsor of the legislation, have both pointed out that almost 100 industrial areas and hundreds of rural counties are now plagued by high and chronic unemployment and have asked Congress to take speedy action on an area redevelopment bill.

Douglas, with 39 Democratic and four Republican cosponsors, Jan. 3 introduced a new area redevelopment bill, S. 1, which was written with the assistance of Kennedy staff aides.

Like Douglas bills in past years, the bill sets up three $100 million loan funds — $100 million for new plants and expansion in depressed industrial areas, $100 million for industries in depressed rural areas, and a third $100 million fund for loans for public facilities. All these loans might be made by direct Treasury financing without specific Congressional appropriations — the so-called "back door" method.

For impoverished areas unable to sustain new loans, the Douglas bill authorizes $75 million in grants for new public facilities. In addition, the bill provides $4.5 million annually for technical assistance to depressed areas and $10 million annually for subsidiary payments to workers being retrained for new duties.

In a departure from the Democratic-backed bills vetoed by President Eisenhower in 1958 & 1960, however the new bill places a limitation of $14.5 million on total funds that may be expended under the measure before July 1, 1962. The provision was reportedly inserted at the insistence of any. However, useful of budget-conscious Kennedy aides.

Congressional sources confirmed that the $14.5 million limitation would mean that before mid-1962 many of the hundreds of areas potentially eligible under the bill might receive little more than minimal assistance, if any. However, useful pilot projects could be started in a number of areas, these sources said.

One provision of S. 1 likely to cause dispute places the area redevelopment program under an independent area redevelopment administration. Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges has insisted that the new program be

Off The Record

If there is a good show playing on Broadway, people will endeavor to be so-called First Nighters. However, sometimes weather conditions will cut down a trip to the Great White Way, especially if an individual has to go any distance.

This was not the case of three stalwart ladies from the area. Saturday this trio—Lorraine Carlton, Sandra Carlton, both of Delaware Water Gap, and Lois Moore, East Stroudsburg, — entrained from the Erie-Lackawanna Station, East Stroudsburg, for the Gotham.

Now everyone knows last Saturday afternoon 18 inches of snow dropped on the area. Also all were informed that transportation to the metropolitan city was far behind schedule.

But this didn't stop our three heroines who despite a wait of three hours left for New York to catch the evening performance of "Sound of Music."

They made it. In fact they were just under the gun, getting to the theatre 10 minutes before the curtain went up.

According to reports "they would not have missed it for the world."

The return trip home? Well that's another story. Lorraine, Sandra and Lois had good ideas of grabbing a bus or train out of New York for the Poconos. But upon reaching depots they were informed that no form of transportation of any sort was leaving New York City.

This being the case the Gap-Eastburg threesome sought a place to stay for the night. Unlike their troubles seeking a way home they found rooms for the night in the Young Women's Christian Association.

While their normal nine-hour journey took two days to complete, the three-hour wait for a train in East Stroudsburg and all-night stay in New York were more than compensated by three words — Sound of Music.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

It's amazing how much time I save because the snow bank in front of the office windows is so high that I can't possibly see anything over it. And I hadn't noticed how much I look out the window until I find myself staring into the snow bank.

Certainly can't get away from thinking about the weather that way! But I did hear of some sort of cute snow stories. In all this fuss about feeding the deer, everybody's sort of forgetting that small game has its problems, too.

For instance, I understand that Mrs. Katie Jones of Saylorsburg was awakened the other night by a sort of thumping at the back door. She looked out and there was a little rabbit—so she got dressed and took food out to him—and probably to all his friends as well.

And speaking of friends, neighbors come in mighty handy these days, too, when isolation seems so complete. And many an impromptu bridge game has got underway when somebody ran out of coffee and went next door to borrow some.

As a matter of fact, friendliness sort of blossoms this weather. With fewer people at meetings, the meetings themselves are cozier. With the cold moderating a little, people on the street seem to enjoy stopping to talk to each other.

And many a cook has improvised some mighty unusual dishes from the ingredients at hand rather than face the problems of getting the car out of the driveway again.

Actually the roads and streets are in wonderful condition once you get out on them. The only problem is the clank of chains on bare roads—after a trip over town to their accompaniment, I'm ready to confess to anything—brainwashed just like the prisoners of war, that's the effect the clanking has.

I wish I had the energy to run all the way, instead. Seems as if the members of the college track team, back to their daily jogs along the snowy roads, get there just as fast and much more quietly than I do.

FIGURE-CONSCIOUS—New Spring styles for men return to waistlines, slight but there, and broader shoulders. At the left, Neville of Huddersfield, England designed this pure worsted suit from a very rare Australian yard exclusively for Lebow clothes, transposing the dressed-up look of winter to Spring and summer wear. In a mini-stripe in pewter gray, the suit weighs only seven ounces and is tailored with a natural lock in shoulders, soft chest, tapered sleeve, shorter coat and curved flap pockets. At the right, a three-wear blend of dacron polyester fiber, worsted wool and mchair gives a crisp cool fabric. The weave gives vertical stripe design which emphasizes the slight waist suppression and squared shoulders. New features are rounded notch lapels, medium cutaway, and slanted rounded pocket flaps, in a suit by Grossman.

British Look Makes News In Men's Fashions

Believe it or not, men have fashion talk of their own this Spring. Biggest fashion news since the continental look three years ago is the appearance of the British look—which has slightly wider-looking though unpadded shoulders, slightly shaped waistlines, and shorter jackets.

In a season when women's fashions are understating the waistline, men's fashions are featuring a rather high placement of the waistline with sufficient suppression to give the skirt of the jacket a slight flare.

In both showings of men's fashions at the New York Couture Group national press week, the conservative cut of the British gentleman was balanced by boldness of fabric patterns and textures— and new feather-weight fabrics.

At the luncheon sponsored by

E. I. DuPont De Nemours in the ready-to-wear field, the "rumpled" look long associated with British country living was eliminated by American fabrics based on blends of Dacron polyester fiber with worsted, with even linen reforming by appearing in a new blend of Dacron and flax.

At the Lebow "fashionstrat" silks played an important role, ranging from the rough weave of India's tussah silk to the natural bloom of an Italian fabric of mohair, pure silk and fine worsted blended in a rainbow of color.

Lebow also used worsted and Dacron polyester in Glen plaids and muted plaids for a suit weighing only 5 1/2 ounces.

Pioneer in the Continental Look for men, Lebow also slightly widens the shoulders and shortens the jacket length, fitting it more snugly to the hips.

He recommends buttoning the two top buttons, and of course no cuffs on the trousers. He coordinates sport coats and slacks designed as one and features the skipped stitched patch pocket.

In colors the gold tones, sage and olive break the monotony of blue and black. New blues include a quamarine, Cameron and dusty blue. Burnished Brown and Jet Black are also favorite colors.

In patterns, Madras is popular but the trend is away from dark murky tones. Glen plaids, muted plaids, over-plaids and plaids emphasizing vertical lines are all found in the new range of colors.

Womans Club To Explore Community Improvement

The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs is sponsoring a Community Improvement Project in which they hope to enlist the help of other organizations, it was announced at the executive board meeting held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. William Hannas presiding.

Mrs. Edward Hess, chairman, announced that a preliminary planning meeting would be held at the Community House on March 2. Mrs. Hess also reported that 17 babies had visited the Well Baby Clinic in December and 55 in January.

Mrs. William Hannas presided at the meeting when two new members were voted upon: Miss Helen Stacey of Stroudsburg and Mrs. Mervin Fontanella of Cresco. The resignation of Mrs. Theodore Schimpf was accepted.

The success of the recent card party at the Penn-Stroud was reported by Mrs. Robert A. Miller.

It was announced that Rama, the girl from India who spent the Summer here two years ago under the auspices of the Woman's Club, had sent Christmas greetings and gifts to the people who had entertained her in their homes during her visit.

The February 13 program on "Herbs" will begin at 2 o'clock instead of the customary 2:15.

Mrs. Earl Brown, of Lake Valhalla announces the marriage of her daughter, Jeanne Strunk, to Joseph Kolcun, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kolcun of 25 South Green St., East Stroudsburg.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis E. Barrett at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, on Sept. 20, 1960. They were attended by Mr. Kolcun's brother, John Kolcun, and by his cousin, Elizabeth Canyak.

They are now residing at 25 South Green St., East Stroudsburg.

Museum Closed Today

Because of the storm, the Monroe County Historical Society museum rooms will not be open this afternoon. Now housing a special Civil War Centennial exhibit, it is hoped that the rooms will be open next Tuesday from 2 to 4 p.m.

No Separate Meeting

Arlington Heights Parent-Teachers Assn. will hold no separate February meeting. Instead they will join with other Stroud Union PTA units for the district observance of Founder's Day on Feb. 20 at Stroud Union High School.

Amaranth Card Party

The annual card party sponsored by the Laurel Court, Order of Amaranth, will be held Wednesday night at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Granville Shiffer, Pokono Ave.

Friends as well as members are invited.

Bake Sale Sat.

The Junior Crusaders Class of the Grace Lutheran Sunday School, East Stroudsburg, will hold a bake sale on Friday, beginning at 5 p.m. at Butz Store next to the A&P.

Garden Club Workers Are Named

At the first meeting of the new executive board of the Monroe County Garden Club, Mrs. Edgar Van Why named a number of special committees:

For the annual luncheon in June: Mrs. Carl Wagner, chairman; Mrs. Ray Arnold and Mrs. Paul Heller.

For Community Beautifying committee of the Woman's Club, Mrs. Edward C. Knob, Mrs. Edgar Van Why and Mrs. Ernest Schwartz. This committee will meet with similar committees of other organizations at the Stroud Community House on Feb. 23.

Mrs. Van Why presented to retiring president, Mrs. I. B. Kiffin, a gold bracelet as a gift from the club.

Mrs. Robert E. James, 1004 Main St., Stroudsburg, was voted in as an associate member.

Plans were made for the meeting on Feb. 16 when Mrs. Horace Westbrook will tell of her travels in Europe last summer and Mrs. Ruth Brown will show pictures they took on their trip.

Present were Mrs. Van Why, Mrs. Kiffin, Mrs. Knob, Mrs. Schwartz, Mrs. Eli Travis, Miss Grace Dupue, Miss Fannie Swartsfelder, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin, Miss Anna C. Courtright, Mrs. A. Starr Phelps, Mrs. Bernard Peters, Mrs. Elwood Grant, and Mrs. Edwin Treible.

Cream butter with curry powder and put dollops of the mixture on cooked green peas just as you are serving. Nice with roast leg of lamb and oven-browned potatoes.

Add a well-beaten egg to 3 cups of mashed seasoned potatoes and shape into patties. Dot with butter and broil; turn with a wide spatula or pancake turner to brown other side.

Legion Aux. To Buy Medals For Students

The American Legion Aux. of George N. Kemp Post at their February meeting ordered two American Legion medals for eighth grade students, and 5,000 poppies for their annual Poppy Day sales.

Mrs. Alfred Reisenwitz presided at the meeting. Mrs. Victor Koch, membership chairman, reported 232 paid-up members.

Plans were completed to serve a dinner to the Pressmen and their wives on Feb. 25.

A resolution of regret was read in memory of Mrs. Thomas Brown, a past president of the auxiliary, which will place altar flowers at the First Baptist Church, East Stroudsburg, on Sunday in her honor.

Following the meeting Mrs. Rudolph Blitz and her committee served refreshments.

Feigel-Kufner Marriage

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Alice Shipper Kufner of Harrisburg to Philip Sieg Feigel, of Newfoundland and Hyattsville, Md. They were married on Feb. 4 in the Church of Christ, Washington, D. C. and will reside in Hyattsville.

All-Day Meeting

Bartonsville — The Bartonsville Home Extension group will hold an all-day meeting on Wednesday in the social hall at Wesley Chapel. A class in upholstery will be held.

Adding lemon juice, vinegar or tart apple to red cabbage when you are cooking this vegetable helps to retain good color.

Sweet potato croquettes are a delightful partner for broiled chicken.

The Wyckoff Shopper

the friendly store

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

It was graduation day last Thursday—at least, for three of our Wyckoff employees, and they are proudly displaying their diplomas in the picture. From left to right, you'll probably recognize Larry Boscano, Blanche Mackey and Harold Albert. They are standing against a Frigidaire refrigerator that has a big seal saying, "GUARANTEED . . . No Frost, No Defrosting." The seal applies to the appliance upon the door of which it is pasted. It might also apply to the three of them, because our appliance department personnel is always helpful, cooperative, and genial. Whatever the weather, or the temperature indoors or out, you'll never get a frosty stare or a cool brushoff in that department. And the day BLANCHE needs de-frosting, let me know. I'll devote not only a column, but all of our radio time to telling the world!

The school our trio of scholars has just finished attending was sponsored by Frigidaire across the nation at the cost of hundreds of thousands of dollars, and was devoted to Human-Centered Selling. There were 17 from this district who attended sessions at Holiday Inn, Allentown, for the past three weeks, with William Kane, district representative, as their teacher.

As Harold explains it, FRIGIDAIRE is not in favor of the hard-sell method of getting appliances into the home. The company knows full well that it has superior merchandise to sell. It also knows that the average man or woman in need of an appliance will be only too happy to invest in Frigidaire when the sales pitch is simply frank, honest, and intelligent. And so the psychology of selling has been studied by our Wyckoff appliance personnel.

Blanche tells me the school was wonderful. Larry is enthusiastic too, and Harold is certain that his department is in a better position now to present a true picture of FRIGIDAIRE to the public than ever before. The idea is not to badger anyone into buying, but being of the utmost help to the customer interested in learning more about refrigerators . . . washers . . . dryers . . . and ranges. Personally, I think this has been the code at Wyckoff's all through the years, don't you?

If you are curious about the wording of the diplomas so proudly held by our graduates, it goes something like this: This certificate is awarded to a salesman who sells according to the motives and the needs of people and transfers product knowledge effectively into human terms, as prescribed in the Frigidaire Human-Centered Selling course.

The Golden Eagle Inn offers a most pleasant atmosphere in which to dine and here too, you will find Duckloe furniture and accessories. Food and spirits are served from 10:30 a.m. until 8 p.m.

Smart shoppers will find this a most opportune time to fill in those gaps with those beautiful Duckloe Reproductions. Visit them soon!

A Saving For Everyone At R. C. Cramer

WITHOUT sacrificing quality and good service, the R. C. Cramer Lumber Company, North Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, has reduced prices on their lumber and building materials. Builders as well as home owners will now enjoy an appreciable saving.

At the same time of the price reduction, a new credit plan has been instituted. The terms are now 10 days E.O.M.

Customers who are in need of more time to complete their payments, can make arrangements with the R. C. Cramer Lumber Company for suitable extension of credit.

The extended credit charge will be at the rate of one per cent per month, calculated on the unpaid balance as of the 11th day of each month.

Payments can be made at any time to reduce or eliminate the small service charge. This charge will begin as of February 11 and will apply to all due and unpaid accounts at that time.

The R. C. Cramer Lumber Company carries a full line of Nationally known building materials and supplies such as Weyerhaeuser Lumber, United States Gypsum Products, Anderson Windows,

BEAUTY OF DESIGN and natural woods is most evident in this beautiful Italian Provincial bedroom grouping at Frederick Duckloe and Bros. in Portland. Duckloe's renowned February Green Tag Sale is now under way in their factory showroom on Portland's main thoroughfare and also at their two-floor showrooms in the "Golden Eagle Inn." This Green Tag Sale will continue through out the month of February with savings on all lines on display in both locations. Duckloe's "Golden Eagle Inn" will be serving a complete menu of food and spirits to the public, as always.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: Every time I have ever done any painting in our house, I have always had a problem with the windows, which are of the regular double-hung variety. I never seem to know which part to paint first. Can you tell me the standard way of painting windows, if there is such a thing?

ANSWER: Yes, professional painters have a regular way of painting windows. Raise the bottom sash and lower the top sash, leaving a few inches clearance at both ends. Begin on the raised bottom sash. Paint its top horizontal. If the glazing consists of small panes, as most do, paint the strips which support the panes, then do the verticals. Now switch your attention to the upper sash, which is still lowered. Paint the strips between the panes as high as you can reach without going between the two sashes. Then paint the bottom horizontal. Now lower the bottom sash to its normal position, which can be done by taking hold of the unpainted bottom horizontal. Raise the upper sash to its normal position by pushing its top, which has not yet been painted. Leave a slight gap between it and the top of the window opening. Paint the upper horizontal of the top sash and then those parts of the strips which you couldn't reach before. Finish the unpainted verticals of the top sash and the bottom horizontal of the lower sash. This sounds complicated, but if you keep these directions before you as you paint, and follow each step, it will be a lot easier than you think. Incidentally, your paint store can sell you a cheap thin metal shield to hold against the edges of the wood to keep surplus paint from getting on the glass.

Prices Are Trimmed By Renault

Renault Trims Its Dauphine Prices

A SHARP reduction in the price of the Renault Dauphine—effective January 21—was announced today by Bob Ziegler, owner of Barrett Auto Service, Cresco.

The new suggested retail price of the popular four-door import in Cresco will be $1,450, compared with the former price of $1,695, Ziegler said.

At the same time he announced that a new and more powerful car, the Renault Gordini, will be introduced in the American market "within the next few weeks" and will have a suggested retail price in Cresco of approximately $1,695.

Thus in 1961 the Gordini will be marketed in the U. S. as an addition to the present Renault line which includes the 4CV, the Dauphine, the Caravelle and the light truck, now available in several models.

Ziegler also revealed that Renault, Inc. has extended its warranty on all Renault vehicles to 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first.

This warranty is retroactive to include all Renault cars and trucks purchased since July 21, 1960, and replaces the former six-month warranty.

In announcing the Renault Gordini, Ziegler said it will feature a 40-horsepower engine, a four-speed gearbox, seats with adjustable backs and luxury interiors.

ESSC Falls Under Rams Jinx, 87 To 77

WEST CHESTER, which holds some sort of athletic jinx over East Stroudsburg in recent years, continued to cast its spell last night, handing the Warriors an 87-77 basketball loss at Normal Hill.

It was the fourth loss, three of them Pennsylvania State College Conference decisions, for the Warriors, who have recorded nine wins. And the defeat knocked away all but a mathematical chance for the Warriors to win the Eastern Division of the conference.

The win pushed West Chester above the .500 mark (7-6) and gives them a 4-2 conference mark, good enough for second place.

It was foul shots, a cold start and sloppy defense in the first half, that cost the Warriors the decision. But most of all, it was foul shots or the lack of the same.

East Stroudsburg had only 16 attempts from the foul line three less than West Chester made. The Warriors were 9-16 in foul shooting, while West Chester hit 19 of 23 chances. East Stroudsburg had only four foul shots in the first half and hit just one. Both teams hit 34 field goals.

West Chester put all five of its starters in double-figures, with Dick Taylor hitting 21 and Jack Juenger (pronounced Younger) adding 20. Bob Boyer scored 18, Bill Waters 14 and Harry Kutch, a senior from Carbondale, getting 13. It was Kutch's starting assignment for the Rams in four years and his rebounding and early point production helped stake the Rams to a 10-point lead with only six minutes gone in the game.

Tony Salerno was the high scorer for East Stroudsburg with 22 and it was his first half scoring (12 points) that finally ignited the Warriors. Larry Walsh added 18 points and 12 rebounds.

Becker Stars
Ed Becker, playing his first game for the Warriors, came off the bench with 13 minutes left in the first half to score 16 points and pull in 12 rebounds. Becker replaced Ken Hendricks, who contributed only one point before departing.

Becker, hit 8 of 15 field goal attempts to run his season mark to 31 for 51, a 60.8 percentage. Most of Becker's goals came on sweep hook shots.

Russ Hopewell, who missed his first seven attempts, ended with 14 points.

West Chester had things much its own way through most of the first half and at one point held a 14-point lead. But the Warriors, with Becker and Salerno producing most of the points, cut the lead to two at halftime 35-33. In the final 46 seconds of the half, Becker whipped in six straight points.

Walsh's tap-in tied the game at 35-all 30 seconds after the start of the second half and Hopewell followed with a jumper to give the Warriors their first lead of the night. After Taylor canned a 40-foot jump shot to tie the count, Becker tossed in a hook and Walsh followed with a jumper.

It was 41-37, East Stroudsburg and it looked as if the Warriors were getting set to pull away. But the lead lasted for just 55 seconds. Waters and Kutch hit on back-to-back shots to tie the count and Becker halted the come-back briefly with a tap-in. Then Taylor hit another one from a "mile-out," Juenger, scored a lay-up and Boyer followed suit and also hit a foul shot. Waters dumped in a jumper and West Chester was back on top by seven, 50-43.

The two clubs exchanged baskets for about three minutes and then the Rams tossed in six straight points to pull away for good.

With five minutes left, the Rams led by 16, and with 2:05 remaining they still had a 10-point spread, 81-71.

Hopewell and Becker hit consecutive baskets and the lead was down to six. But that was as close as the Warriors could get. In the final minute, West Chester tossed in eight points while holding the Warriors scoreless.

Heavy Card Tonight In School Play

BARRING any new snow storms, basketball fans will find plenty of action tonight.

However, most of the local court teams will be hitting the road for their activity.

Stroudsburg journeys to Whitehall for Lehigh Valley League game and East Stroudsburg battles Wilson Boro at Wilson for Lehigh-Northampton loop play. In another L-N game, Parkland is at Bangor.

Around the circuit, Southern Wayne, highly favored in PIAA District 12, travels to Waymart and Pocono Twp., plays Coalsburg at the latter's court.

Pleasant Valley will be home to entertain Nesquehoning on the newly reconditioned PV gym floors.

Collegetwice, the ESSC girls sextet will visit Holy Family at Nazareth.

Los Angeles (AP) — Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale wanted to leave for Florida before spring training, so he could compete in the baseball players' golf tournament starting in Miami Jan. 15.

His wife Ginger objected to the early departure, but Don won her over by getting General Manager Buzzie Bavasi to tell her he wanted Drysdale to represent the Dodgers in the tournament.

"I told her I would get her a compact," Bavasi said. "And now I find out she thinks I meant a compact car."

Barrett High Lists New Date
BARRETT High court team will play Delaware Valley on Feb. 8 at Delaware Valley, it was reported last night.

The game was originally to be played last Friday but a snow blizzard cancelled the affair.

Everybody's Target

Buckeyes Like Top Spot

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Fred Taylor needs no needle, emotional or otherwise, in pregame buildups to keep his brilliant Buckeye basketball team on the victory trail.

The Ohio State mentor, surveying the team's 21-game winning streak, the unblemished 16 conquests this year, the 1960 national championship and current unanimous No. 1 ranking, said: "Frankly, I like it up here. So do the boys."

"When you are on top, you're everybody's target. Every team we play is sky high. We have to be just as high—but we do it naturally, by just accepting the challenge."

"Winning is nothing new to our five starters. All were all-Ohio high school players. There's no friction among them."

Ability Also
"In addition to their ability, our boys have intense pride in their record. They know that one slip can shove them off the top. With that knowledge as an incentive, they need no pep talks."

Jerry Lucas, the all-America junior and Olympic star, is Ohio State's marked man. As a rule five defenders collapse on him every time he's within range of the basket — which opens pathways for some of his friends.

So big Jerry, despite his 25-plus scoring average, spends much of his time passing off or grabbing rebounds. That's the type of team play which has paid off. In most of the contests each of the five starters has scored in double figures — and any of them can break a game open at any time.

Harold Johnson Is 3-1 Choice In Title Bout

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Harold Johnson of Philadelphia zoomed to a solid 3-1 favorite Monday as he and Jesse Bowdry took their final workouts for their 15-round battle for the National Boxing Association version of the world light heavyweight championship at Miami Beach Convention Hall Tuesday night.

Promoter Chris Dundee continued to predict a crowd of 8,000 and a $60,000 gate, both of which would be records for the big arena. The previous high marks were 4,500 and $28,000, set in the opening fight show in 1958 between Johnny Busso and Joe Brown.

The main event is scheduled for 10 p.m. and will not be on television or radio. Scoring will be on the 10-point must system.

Lost First Shot

Johnson is 32 and had his eye on the title long before Bowdry, 23, had any ideas of a pro fight career. The Philadelphia had one shot at the crown, losing by a knockout to Archie Moore in the 14th round in Madison Square Garden, New York, Aug. 11, 1954.

It was their fifth meeting, and Moore had won three of the previous four, none title matches. It is for ancient Archie's vacant throne Johnson and Bowdry will be fighting Tuesday night. The NBA ejected Archie for failure to put the crown on the line in a reasonable time.

Johnson hasn't fought in nine months and Bowdry has had only two fights in the last year. He was knocked out twice by a middleweight, Henry Hank, in his two preceding fights, prompting him to go into temporary retirement.

Johnson, a stolid, reticent citizen, has changed his tune from a timorous "I hope I win" to a defiant "I will win" since arriving here. His manager is predicting a knockout in three rounds.

The Bowdry camp is predicting a knockout for the St. Louis fighter within seven rounds.

Marine Pair Represent U. S.

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Marine Cps. Gary Sheffield and Jerry Tennant, members of the No. 1 U.S. four-man bobsled team won the right Sunday to represent the United States as the No. 1 team in the two-man world championships.

Sheffield, of Lake Placid, and Tennant, of Princeton, W. Va., finished third in the National AAU two-man race after winning the Adirondack AAU event last week. Their total of eight points in the two races gave them the designation of No. 1 team for the world championships, which begin next weekend.

7 Fans Wounded During San Salvador Soccer Tilt

SAN SALVADOR (AP) — Several soccer fans were nursing bullet wounds Monday, unexpected victims of a soccer match brawl that definitely got out of hand.

There is no love lost when an Argentine team meets one from neighboring Uruguay. And the Argentine juniors and the Montevideo Defender teams upheld tradition Sunday although they met some 5,000 miles from their home-lands.

Rough play began almost immediately after some 20,000 fans settled down in their seats. Midway in the second half, two players swapped punches. It fired an explosion which involved all on the field and spectators who joined in. Hundreds of fans in the stands got into the act by setting fire to seat cushions and hurling them in the general direction of the field. The referee suspended the match when no one could get the brawling players to stop punching, kicking, arm twisting, shoving and wrestling. The crowd refused to disperse for hours. Then police fired some warning shots, which found their mark in the unlucky fans.

FINGER-TIP FIGHT—Jack Yuenger (dark jersey) and Larry Walsh of East Stroudsburg reach for rebound in first half of ESSC-West Chester game last night. Yuenger had the reach on Walsh but tipped the ball to the side and Walsh grabbed it. West Chester topped the Warriors 87-77. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Outfield Gives Scheffing Least Concern As Of Now

By BOB SCHEFFING

DETROIT TIGERS
SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — As this is my first season as an American League manager, it will take at least a good part of spring training before I'm able to evaluate the Tigers much less the nine other clubs in our league.

The one spot I'm not concerned about is our outfield. We have one of the best in the business, with Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline, Billy Burton and Charley Maxwell. Burton, whom we got from the Braves, will add a lot of speed to the club and with him in center we'll be able to move Kaline back to right field where he has always been a standout.

The infield is another thing. We may go with rookies at both second and third. Steve Boras will probably be the third baseman. He had a fine year at Denver last season, hitting .317. Jake Wood, another Denver graduate, and Chuck Cottier will battle it out for the second base job. Cottier came to us in the Bruton deal. He's an exceptional fielder and will stick if he shows us he can hit big league pitching. Chico Fernandez, another fine glove man, is the probable shortstop.

Pitching Unsettled
At first base, it'll be between Larry Osborne and Norm Cash. Osborne won the American Association batting championship. Cash is a good hitter who'll have to sharpen up his fielding. He can also play the outfield and we'll play him there if necessary.

The pitching and catching departments are also unsettled at this time. Last year, Don Mossi, Ray Narleski and Paul Foytack all came down with injuries and we were lost to the club for considerable periods. If they're back in shape, we'll have no trouble. Jim Bunning and Frank Lary are two experienced right-handers. Bunning can do considerable better than his 11-14 record of last season.

Harry Chiti, Dick Brown and Mike Roarke are the catchers. Brown has a lot of power, but doesn't hit for a high average. Chiti is the most experienced of the three.

From what little I know about the rest of the league, the Yankees and Orioles seem to be the best. The Tigers should be at least as good as any of the others. Once we get straightened away, I hope we'll be better.

Next: Milwaukee.

W. Reading Is Picked To Win PIAA Class "C"

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Ron Krick is back in action and West Reading is going to be tough to beat for the PIAA Class C championship.

The Cowboys handed Hamburg its first defeat in the Berks County, 62-48, and now appear back on the track toward the state playoffs and a possible third consecutive Class C title.

Here's the way the competition looks around the state:
District 1—Probably Jenkintown again for the district title. This school is normally state contender.

District 2—Moosic looks strong; the remainder of the field is uncertain at the moment.

District 3 — Tough competition for West Reading within its own district could come from Cornwall or Scotland with other possibilities including Fleetwood, Littlestown, Lykens, and Green Park.

District 4 — Muncy and Ringtown provide the district with two strong contenders for the state title.

District 6 — This district may produce the western champ with Beaver-Dale and Williamsburg looking impressive. The new Tri-Valley league has three top Class C possibilities: Rothrock, Tuscarora Valley and West Snyder. However, it's not clear in which district playoffs they might participate. Rothrock normally is in district 6, but Tuscarora is in 3, and West Snyder is in 4.

They are no Class C teams in the WPIAL or District 8 (Pittsburgh).

District 9—Sheffield looks like a good bet to repeat in the district and may be good enough to go far in the inter-districts. Owayo Valley, Clarion-Limestone and Clarion, look like its toughest competition in the district.

District 10—The Class C teams don't have impressive records, but Commodore Perry went all the way to the final against West Reading despite a losing record on the season. The Commodores will be in the district playoffs again with Wesleyville, and possibly either Northern Area or Spartansburg as its only competition.

District 11—Butler Twp. is holding its own against mixed Class A and B competition and probably will repeat as district champ.

District 12 — Lake Ariel, Southern Wayne, and Susquehanna were the leaders at last report.

The Daily Record Classified Section

"Big Results Little Cost"
Phone HA 1-7349
Robert S. Widmer
Classified Ad Manager
Policy

This newspaper is a member of the Association of Newspapers of America, which includes leading newspapers throughout the country and has for its aim the elimination of fraudulent and misleading classified advertising. This newspaper as well as every other member of the Association endeavors to print only truthful Want-Ads and will appreciate having its attention called to any advertising not conforming to the highest standards of honesty.

Closing Time
Want ads accepted from 8:30 a.m. to 11 p.m. for the following day and until 12 noon Saturday for Monday edition.
Headline for Classified Display: 2:30 p.m. 2 days prior to publication.

You are only charged for the number of days your ad appears in the paper.
However, Want Ads now appearing in the Classified Section, may be cancelled up to 3:00 p.m. Classified Display ads may be cancelled up to 1:00 a.m. for the next day's edition.

Adjustments
Errors, not the fault of the advertiser, which clearly lessen the value of the advertisement, should be corrected the first day when an extra corrected insertion will be made without charge. The Record assumes no responsibility for errors after the first insertion.

Box replies received yesterday were: 246.
